L'univers uni, c'est fini. L'Empire galactique se désagrège. Trente mille ans de chaos sont au programme. Et moi, j'en ai trop fait et je suis las. Oui, je m'appelle Hari Seldon et je vois que ce nom vous dit quelque chose. Tout ce que j'ai fait, c'est de poser les équations et d'agir. Les équations ne mentent pas. D'ailleurs vous le savez. Je ne voudrais pas jouer les prophètes, mais quand j'allume mon Premier Radiant, je lis l'avenir de l'humanité. Le chaos prévu sera réduit à un petit millier d'années. Je ne pourrai pas y veiller personnellement, mais tout est en place. Je me suis laissé accaparer par ma tâche et, à l'heure de partir, je regrette d'avoir négligé les gens qui m'accompagnaient. Mais ce n'est pas moi qui ai décidé. Les équations ne me laissaient aucune échappatoire. Je continue à venir ici dans mon bureau. Je crois parfois y entendre résonner des voix, celles de mes parents, de mes étudiants, de mes collègues... de Wanda... mais les couloirs sont vides. La Fondation est faite et le bâtiment de psychohistoire ne sert plus à rien. La suite se passe ailleurs.

Fondation foudroyée ; Terre et Fondation Spectra

Hari Seldon venait d'inventer la psychohistoire et il n'y voyait qu'une pure spéculation, sans application pratique. La psychohistoire ne pouvait pas prédire l'avenir ? Les politiques s'en moquaient ! Les gens allaient y croire. Ensuite, les équations diraient ce qu'on leur ferait dire. Et si Seldon n'était pas d'accord, tant pis pour lui ! Alors, le jeune chercheur s'enfuit. Traqué, il sillonna les dédales souterrains de la planète Trantor, capitale de l'Empire galactique. Et ce qu'il vit le stupéfia. Un avenir inquiétant se dessinait sous ses yeux. Était-il trop tard pour éviter la catastrophe ?

" Le premier augure apparut, dit-on, à Rémus : c'étaient six vautours. Il venait de l'annoncer, quand Romulus en aperçut douze, et chacun d'eux fut proclamé roi par ses partisans. Ils fondaient leurs prétentions, l'un sur la priorité du temps, l'autre sur le nombre des oiseaux. Pendant le débat qui suivit, leur colère, animée par la résistance, ensanglanta la querelle. Au milieu du désordre, Rémus frappé tombe mort. Une tradition plus répandue rapporte que Rémus, pour insulter son frère, avait franchi d'un saut les nouvelles murailles, et que Romulus, dans l'emportement de sa fureur, le tua en ajoutant : "Ainsi périsse quiconque franchira mes remparts." Romulus resta donc seul maître, et la ville nouvelle prit le nom de son fondateur. "

Le Sang des Innocents est le premier tome du préquel de la série culte créée par Didier Convard et Christian Gine, qui avait révolutionné les règles de la science-fiction dans les années 80. Neige, le héros de cette grande saga écologique, conservait cependant sa part d'ombre... Toute quête a ses racines, celles de l'enfant sans mémoire plongeaient déjà dans le sang avant sa naissance... Avec la touche de profond humanisme que l'on connaît à Didier Convard, et la poésie de son coauteur Eric Adam, Neige offre une vision lucide et implacable de l'Homme placé dans des conditions de survie extrême, illustrée par le trait inspiré et expressif de Didier Poli et Jean-Baptiste Hostache. Catalog of Government Publications in the Research Libraries Rowman & Littlefield Publishers Includes its Report, 1896-19 .

Developments in Geotechnical Engineering, Volume 18: Stress in Subsoil and Methods of Final Settlement Calculation reviews the method of settlement calculations based on stresses in the subsoil. This book is divided into three chapters. Chapter 1 deals with in situ stresses in the subsoil, while Chapter 2 focuses on the state of stress produced in the subsoil by external loads. The last chapter discusses the methods of calculating the final settlement, including remarks on the selection of deformation parameters. This publication also discusses the horizontal geostatic stress, surface loading of a half-space, method of oedometric compression, and finite element and allied methods. This volume is recommended for researchers and specialists of disciplines related to geotechnical engineering.

This volume puts disability and labour at the centre of historical enquiry. It offers fresh perspectives on the history of disability and labour in the twentieth century and highlights the need to address the topic beyond regional boundaries. Bringing together historians and disability scholars from a variety of disciplines and regions, the chapters investigate various historical settings, ranging from work cooperatives to disability associations and informal workplaces, and analyse multiple meanings of labour in different political and economic systems through the lens of disability. The book's contributors demonstrate that the nexus between labour and disability in modern, industrialised societies resists easy generalisations, as marginalisation and integration were often two sides of the same coin: While the experience of many disabled people has been marked by exclusion from mainstream production, labour also became a vehicle for integration and emancipation. Addressing one of the research gaps of the disability history field, which has long been dominated by British and North American perspectives, the book sheds light on less-studied examples from Scandinavian countries and Eastern Europe including Czechoslovakia, Poland, the Soviet Union, Bulgaria and Romania. Cutting across national, cultural and class divides the volume provides a springboard for reflections on common experiences of disability and labour during the twentieth century. It will be of interest to all scholars and students working in the field of disability studies, sociology and labour history.

This book is the result of reflections and work of the Specialty group on neurology in migrants of the World Federation of Neurology. The volume provides a synthesis of migrants' health in relation to the sustainable development goals and the 2030 agenda, and an up-to-date overview on neurological diseases among migrants, refugees and ethnic minorities. The book is composed of both general chapters dealing with the history of migration, the relationship between climate change and migration flows, the migration and neurosciences research and the barriers to migrant's health. Other chapters deal with the migrants' particularities of the common neurological diseases such as cerebrovascular diseases, epilepsy, dementia, movement disorders, multiple sclerosis, headache, functional and mental disorders. In addition, also neurological manifestation of COVID-19 in ethnic minorities and palliative care in migrants are discussed. Neurology in Migrants and Refugees will be useful to neurologists worldwide who can find appropriate knowledge for diagnosis and treatment when facing migrants with neurological disorders which are sometimes difficult to assess in the absence of clinical experience with the migrant population. It will also be very useful for international organizations, policymakers and non-governmental organizations working in the field of health and migration. This book will certainly find an indispensable place in neurological departments libraries and will constitute a basic textbook for teaching neurology taking into account ethnicity, culture and health inequalities in the care of neurological disorders. Prélude à Fondation Elsevier

Dans la capitale de l'Empire, Trantor, le savant Hari Seldon invente la psychohistoire, une science capable de prédire l'avenir. The modelling tools for soils and rocks require more and more specific parameters not always available from the standard or usual survey campaigns, this generally for reasons of delay or costs. The use of correlations to solve the gap between available parameters and the required ones is a common practice. Many of them exist but are spread throughout numerous papers or books. The aim of this formulary is to provide a large synthesis of the existing correlations accumulated by the authors during more than 40 years academic and consulting careers.

The first of two prequel novels in Isaac Asimov's classic science-fiction masterpiece, the Foundation series THE EPIC SAGA THAT INSPIRED THE APPLE TV+ SERIES FOUNDATION It is the year 12,020 G.E. and Emperor Cleon I sits uneasily on the Imperial throne of Trantor. Here in the great multidomed capital of the Galactic Empire, forty billion people have created a civilization of unimaginable technological and cultural complexity. Yet Cleon knows there are those who would see him fall—those whom he would destroy if only he could read the future. Hari Seldon has come to Trantor to deliver his paper on psychohistory, his remarkable theory of prediction. Little does the young Outworld mathematician know that he has already sealed his fate and the fate of humanity. For Hari possesses the prophetic power that makes him the most wanted man in the Empire . . . the man who holds the key to the future—an apocalyptic power to be known forever after as the Foundation.

En ce début de treizième millénaire, l'Empire n'a jamais été aussi puissant, aussi étendu à travers toute la galaxie. C'est clans sa capitale, Trantor, que l'éminent savant Hari Seldon invente la psychohistoire, une science nouvelle permettant de prédire l'avenir. Grâce à elle, Seldon prévoit l'effondrement de l'Empire d'ici trois siècles, suivi d'une ère de ténèbres de trente mille ans. Réduire cette période à mille ans est peut-être possible, à condition de mener à terme son projet : la Fondation, chargée de rassembler toutes les connaissances humaines. Christian missions and missionaries have had a distinctive role in Canada's cultural history. With Canadian Missionaries, Indigenous Peoples, Alvyn Austin and Jamie S. Scott have brought together new and established Canadian scholars to examine the encounters between Christian (Roman Catholic and Protestant) missionaries and the indigenous peoples with whom they worked in nineteenth- and twentieth-century domestic and overseas missions. This tightly integrated collection is divided into three sections. The first contains essays on missionaries and converts in western Canada and in the arctic. The essays in the second section investigate various facets of the Canadian missionary presence and its legacy in east Asia, India, and Africa. The third section examines the motives and methods of missionaries as important contributors to Canadian museum holdings of artefacts from Huronia, Kahnawaga, and Alaska, as well as China and the South Pacific.

Broadly adopting a postcolonial perspective, Canadian Missionaries, Indigenous Peoples contributes greatly to the understanding of missionaries not only as purveyors of western religious values, but also as vehicles for cultural exchange between Native and non-Native Canadians, as well as between Canadians and the indigenous peoples of other countries.
