This package contains a handbook explaining how to make laundering, cleaning, and dishwashing easier; a guide for using the handbook with secondary students, youth groups, adult groups, and students enrolled in teacher preparatory classes; a set of worksheets designed to reinforce concepts introduced in the guide; and four charts. The following topics are covered in the handbook: how to accentuate the positives, save time, and get better results when doing housekeeping chores; how to choose the correct cleaning and laundry product; how to organize laundering; how to clean hard surfaces; how to plan for better dishwashing; how cleaning products are created; frequently asked cleaning questions and their answers; and colorful legends about the accidental discovery of soap and the origin of more recent cleaning products. The teacher guide contains separate lesson plans and discussion guidelines for use with inexperienced (beginning) and experienced (advanced) groups. Each of these sets of lesson plans contains unit-by-unit objectives, lists of support materials, lesson preparation suggestions, guidelines for conducting the lesson, and evaluation criteria and methods. Posters deal with the following topics: information on cleaning product packages, a general schedule for home and clothing care tasks, helpful cleaning and dishwashing hints, and removal of common stains from washable fabrics. Daily Lesson Plans in English Boys Town Press

The lives of six African children, ages nine to sixteen, were forever altered by the revolt aboard the Cuban schooner La Amistad in 1839. Like their adult companions, all were captured in Africa and illegally sold as slaves. In this fascinating revisionist history, Benjamin N. Lawrance reconstructs six entwined stories and brings them to the forefront of the Amistad conflict. Through eyewitness testimonies, court records, and the children's own letters, Lawrance recounts how their lives were inextricably interwoven by the historic drama, and casts new light on illegal nineteenth-century transatlantic slave smuggling.

Every year, Louise Belmont makes a sentimental pilgrimage to the top of Mont Ste-Anne near her small Québec village of Percé on the Gaspé Peninsula. It's a special place. It's where her beloved late husband Luc proposed many years ago. For Louise now though, it's all about her children, their spouses and her visiting six-year-old grandson Michel. She has no thoughts of romance. So when she meets the distinguished but lost tourist Laurence Bradford on the mountain top, she gives him directions, has a friendly visit and thinks little more of it. But, as she starts to be seen around the village with Laurence, tongues start wagging. Then her old school chum and confidant Harry Bernier returns to Percé for his retirement. Gradually, Louise starts to consider whether to let a new love into her life and just who that might be.

Foundations of Rehabilitation Teaching with Persons who are Blind Or Visually Impaired

An invaluable companion for writers at every stage of their journey to make the writing life a more complex and cooperative venture In this intimate and eloquent meditation, the award-winning poet Carl Phillips shares lessons he has learned about what he calls an "apprenticeship to what can never fully be mastered," through forty years of teaching and mentoring emerging writers. He weaves together his experiences as a poet and prose writer with discussions of underexplored elements of the writing life, including ambition, stamina, silence, politics, practice, audience, and community. In the tradition of Anne Lamott's Bird by Bird, Rainer Maria Rilke's Letters to a Young Poet, and Marcus Aurelius's Meditations, this is an invaluable companion for writers at every stage of their journey. Phillips's book serves as a partner in speculation and an invitation to embrace mystery.
